BUILDING PERMITS: WHEN DO I NEED ONE?

The information in this pamphlet is not meant to cover all guidelines and requirements of city code. You should contact the city about required permits and specifications before beginning any project.

The Building Safety Division works with property owners, tenants and contractors to assure that new construction and alterations to existing construction are code compliant.

Building permits must be obtained before beginning any work on a project. The person responsible for doing the work must make application for the required permits, which may include zoning, building, plumbing, mechanical and electrical permits.

Permit fees are based upon the valuation (material and labor costs) of the work to be performed.

Building permits are valid as long as work begins within 180 days from the date the permit is issued and is not discontinued for more than 180 consecutive days.
